Opening Reception

A few guidelines for our breakout sessions:

- All long breakout sessions will be structured by a session chair, who is an expert in his / her field and makes a distinct contribution to the session in the form of reflections, questions and discussion points. We continuously update the program with new session chairs.
- As part of the morning and afternoon breakout sessions, one session will be dedicated to brief presentations under a common headline - these sessions are highlighted in green
- We are pleased to welcome the Campbell Collaboration to our Dublin Conference. Campbell is celebrating its 15th anniversary this year, and their workshop is part of this anniversary. Meet Campbell on Wednesday in the breakout session W8.
- We would also like to highlight the breakout session W13, planned and prepared by Jacquie Brown, which focuses on implementation practice and experience when working in the context of the majority world (low and middle income countries).

Symposium: Implementation Science and Improvement Science: Ready to Converge in Support of Global Health?

The symposium will bring together key thought leaders from these fields to present their views on how best to use the overlap and complementarity between implementation science and improvement science to greatest advantage in service of global health. There will be presentations, a panel discussion, and ample time for all participants to interact. Seating will be available for 200 registrants.
